Sample Speaking Topics:

Whole Human—or Disconnected...It's Your Choice

Let's face it, you're too busy and focus on what is causing the most drama. With so many distractions, when do you really give your full attention to anything? Happiness comes from owning and engaging the whole package: mental and physical health, connections with family and friends, and your internal guidance system. Caring about other people, the planet and most importantly yourSELF.

The Priority Puzzle: A radical approach to making ALL the pieces fit

Everything is the #1 priority these days! As a working woman, it's exhausting just trying to keep up, and you can't do your best at everything—or anything. How do you choose? Life is more stressful with all the technology distractions that keep you constantly "on." Do you find daily life wears you down until your mental and physical health are depleted and your attitude sucks? In this powerful program Lori shares a radical new approach for making peace with your priorities and creating freedom in your life.

Money, Money, Money...The Power of Abundance

Money, finances, investments, three words that will make you smile—or cringe. Why do people give so much of their power to money? They are stuck in a mentality of lack, chronically complaining about not having enough, being broke, wishing they had more, and resentful of others that do. Lori's personal experience of hitting rock bottom and creating financial abundance fuels this program with an inspirational twist your attendees won't soon forget.

The Call of the Wild: Awakening your Pack Leader DNA

What does it take to be comfortable in your own skin and be a successful female leader? Examples are plentiful of what not to do, being overly competitive, wearing your insecurities on your sleeve and being too emotional. This inspirational and fun keynote explores what it takes to be a successful alpha female and lead your pack with confidence and courage.

The Passion Accelerator: How to fuel your appetite to be, do and create anything you love

Do you love your life, your career, what you've accomplished so far? Is there an emptiness, or burning desire inside you that begs to be acknowledged? A "full" life is one connected with what fires you up, it brings you joy, happiness and the ability to share and serve others with what you're truly passionate about. This keynote will challenge and inspire your audience to take immediate action.
